Dear Reader,

The first AnDevCon, held last March, sold out early - and despite our bigger quarters, we anticipate a full house again this Nov. 6-9. That's why we recommend that if you develop Android applications, you should register early for AnDevCon II. Use the code 'qoppa' during registration to save an additional $200!

From Honeycomb to Ice Cream Sandwich, from sensors to APIs, from styling your app's UI to consuming enterprise Web services, AnDevCon II is 100% focused on developer education and training. Whether you're new to the Android platform or are already experienced at delivering software through the Android Market, AnDevCon II is for you.

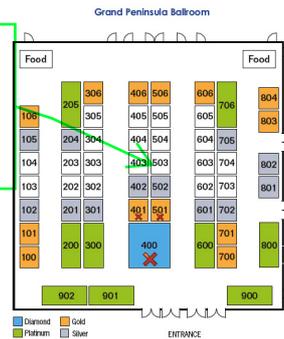

AnDevCon is 100% focused on developing Android applications - it's not watered down by sessions for sys admins, venture capitalists, marketing people, or curious onlookers who want to check out the Android ecosystem. At AnDevCon you'll find hundreds of experienced developers and engineers - just like you.

Register for AnDevCon by Friday, July 15, to save $500 PLUS use the code 'qoppa' during registration to save an additional $200!

See you in November!
